

Oxford Plains Speedway Announces 2026 OCS Division Sponsors

Oxford, ME — 2/2/2026 — Officials at Oxford Plains Speedway (OPS) announced the track's division sponsors for the weekly championship series today. All seven classes will feature the same division sponsor as 2025, with Rodney's Repair shifting to back the Rookie of the Year, Winners Circle, Fastest Lap of the Race, and Hard Charger Awards. Meanwhile, longtime supporter Spencer Group Paving will be the official sponsor of OPS Victory Lane.

Mid-Coast Excavation enters its second year as the primary sponsor for the weekly Super Late Model Series, while Dow Excavating and Spaulding Roofing Specialists return to the limited Sportsman and Street Stocks. KHM Motorsports and Oxford Aroma Joe's have returned to the Thunder Stocks and the Rookies, Green Lawn Solutions is back for a second year with Mad Bombers, 207 Flight School will once again bring the four-cylinder fury every week with the Runnin' Rebels.

MID-COAST EXCAVATION SUPER LATE MODELS — Mid-Coast Excavation is a multi-generation, family-owned and operated construction and excavation company that serves the residential and commercial markets in Mid-Coast Maine. The Weekly Super Late Model field at Oxford Plains Speedway is still known as one of the toughest in America. Eleven different drivers were winners in weekly action in 2025, with ten in the previous season and another dozen the year before. After averaging over 21 cars per week last season, 2026 promises much the same. A mix of veterans like Tim Brackett, Calvin Rose Jr, Scott Moore, Mike Rowe, and 2025 champion Scott McDaniel are already on the driver roster. They will face off against young faces like Kyle Salemi, Colby Benjamin, and Evan Roy for weekly supremacy. Add in drivers like Ben Tinker, multi-time champion Dave Farrington Jr., 2025 Rookie of the Year Tom Abele Jr., incoming rookie driver Michael Haynes, and former winner Brandon Varney, and it's easy to see why weekly racing at Oxford is as good as it gets.

DOW EXCAVATING LIMITEDS — Dow Excavating is a locally owned and family-run excavation contractor in Hollis, Maine specializing in septic repairs and replacement. The Limited Sportsman division enters the fifth season of its resurgence at OPS and has produced some of the tightest racing at the speedway. Champion Jon Brill, Jordan Russell, and Kyle Treadwell put on some heated battles in 2025 with drivers like P.J. Merrill, Chris Foster, Kristina Nadeau adding their names to a track-high 13 different winners.

SPAULDING ROOFING STREET STOCKS — Spaulding Roofing is a successful family-owned and locally run business taking pride in customer service and quality craftsmanship. Years of experience allows Spaulding Roofing to feature a very efficient and cost-effective pricing structure that does not sacrifice the quality of work. Call Richard now at 207-333-7682 for a free estimate.

Like 2025, experience and grit make up this year's class of drivers. Street Stocks are a place for veteran drivers to settle in as their class of choice. Billy Childs Jr. returned to the top in 2025 in a real barnburner with Rick Spaulding and Jordan Russell nipping at his heels. Eleven different drivers prevailed throughout the season with, in addition to those mentioned already, Jimmy Childs and Brandon Johnson scoring multiple wins.

GREEN LAWN SOLUTIONS MAD BOMBERS — Located in Harrison, Maine, Green Lawn Solutions serves Greater Portland, The Lakes Region, Oxford Hills, and the Western Mountain areas with pride. One of the highest consistent car counts at the speedway has been in the Green Lawn Solutions Mad Bombers. Eleven drivers were winners in 2025 with Tyler Connolly, Brandon Caron, and Thomas Brackett landing in the top three in points. Connolly and Brackett are reportedly moving to the PASS MOD series, while another youngster Nick Wilson is moving to Limited Sportsmen. Drivers like Cole McIntire and Tyler Lerman hope to join the ranks at the front, and veteran Corey Morgan is always a threat anytime the blue 26 pulls into the pit area. In 2025, drivers like Kenny Hoyt, Dustin Staples, Adam Stearns, and Kyle Richardson challenged weekly in another season of deep fields and fender to fender racing.

KHM THUNDERSTOCKS —The KHM name has long been a fixture at OPS in nearly every aspect of racing from car construction, ownership, driving, crewing and even mentorship of young drivers. As always, one of the biggest wild card classes will be the KHM Thunderstocks. Tucker Haskell and Karson Hewins have already reserved their numbers for 2026 and are sure to be factors every time they roll through the gate. Ten drivers were victorious in 2025 including Spencer Moore, Tyler Moore, Caleb Morris, and more while Thomas Richards was the champion.
