Barre, VT – The North East Short Track Network (NESTN) has signed on with the top sanctioning bodies including the Milton CAT American-Canadian Tour, Pro All Stars Series and Monaco Modified Tri-Track Series along with iconic speedways like Vermont’s Thunder Road Speedbowl, New Hampshire’s Lee USA Speedway and White Mountain Motorsports Park, Connecticut’s Thompson Speedway and Seekonk Speedway in Massachusetts to stream events live for 2026 and beyond.

NESTN is set to be New England’s streaming home to such iconic events as the Easter Bunny 200, the 52nd Icebreaker, the Milton CAT Midsummer Classic 250, The Northeast Classic at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, Haunted Hundred, Vermont Lottery Governor’s Cup 150, Ollie Silva Midsummer Classic and the 64th Sunoco World Series of Speedway Racing just to name a few!

The Northeast Short Track Network will cover events held at Thompson Speedway, White Mountain Motorsports Park and Lee USA Speedway plus a series of eight events during a midsummer stretch at Thunder Road Speedbowl. NESTN will also cover touring events on the Milton CAT American-Canadian Tour, Pro All Stars Series and the New England Supermodified Series outside of Thunder Road and Oxford Plains Speedway. The Monaco Modified Tri-Track Series events at the New London-Waterford Speedbowl adds to nearly 100 scheduled events set for the streaming platform this summer.

NESTN got its start in 2025 by streaming select Pay-Per-View events at Thompson Speedway and White Mountain Motorsports Park with popularity growing throughout the season. Now with key personnel hires including Mark Beaudry, Connor Sullivan and Stephen McLoughlin, NESTN looks to tackle its most audacious schedule yet in the coming season!

“By partnering with NESTN, we’re working with locals here in the Northeast to produce a quality telecast that our fans are accustomed to with our tracks and series,” said ACT managing partner Cris Michaud. “The product produced by Mark and the crew is second to none and elevates our events, teams and tracks that much more.”

The North East Short Track Network is a revenue sharing Pay-Per-View streaming service.
